Madera High School Yearbook / MADA

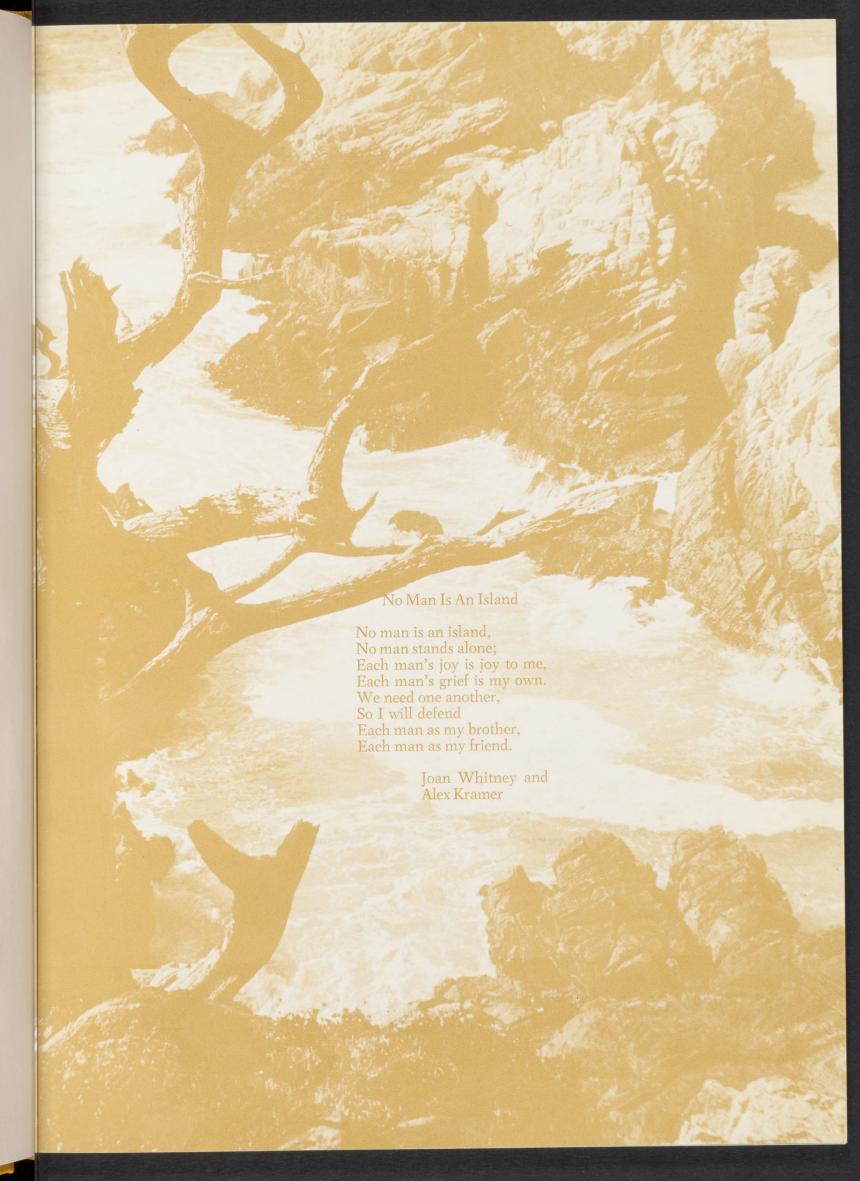

Malise Blue + white 1966

The theme of this year's annual, the Sea of Life is based on three ideas: Man, Life, Sea. The word MALISE is an anagram of these ideas, and thus encompasses the entire theme in one word.

THE SEA OF LIFE

PROLOGUE

In assembling this yearbook, the purpose has been to portray a small but exceedingly significant portion of the lives of a small yet potentially influential segment of the human element. These are the students of Madera Union High School. Included are all those who affect the student body, such as the administration. The final product, it is hoped, will paint a picture, complete and comprehensive, of Madera High and all those who walk its hallowed halls.

The main medium of expression used here is photography. Actual pictures of people—some at work, some at play, some caught unawares in candid poses—provide the bulk of this publication. The images presented in photos are generally clear and unequivocal, offering themselves at face value for what they are, and without leaving any room for personal interpretation.

The next medium of expression, art, leaves much opportunity for personal interpretation. The artists have skillfully placed on paper impressions, concepts, ideas. The actual comprehension of these is an individual task. The number of different meanings is as great as the number of persons who take time to reflect on the expressions.

The last medium of expression lies in the underlying theme of the yearbook, the Sea of Life. Here, too, one is allowed much room for personal translation. The ideas taken from MAn, LIfe, and SEa are explicit, but their manifestations are subject to the whims of the individual mind. The story told holds a variety of messages, depending on the reader.

With this foreword, we, the editors, present to you the Sea of Life: Blue and White, 1966.

Sagacious: wise; experienced

The inhabitants of the SEA OF THE SAGACIOUS are those who have attained wisdom and experience in this life, and now seek to distribute this knowledge among the newer and less experienced members of the Sea of Life. With gratitude to those who have sought to enrich our lives, we present the ADMINISTRATION.

SUPERINTENDENT

Your high school years can be likened to a springboard into life. You become the diver, and as such you must be concerned with your approach, the hurdle step, the take-off and following lift, form and execution, and, finally, your entrance.

Your approach to high school represents your attitude toward education as formed by your earlier training; the hurdle step is like subject matter—you must accomplish it with proficiency; the take-off is a result of the drive and energy you generate for the school tasks which confront you. Finally, your scholastic performance and participation in beneficial activities can be likened to the form and execution, culminating with a proper entrance, either into a chosen field of work or in further education.

BLOCK M

The Block M Society is probably the most influential and most prominent organization on campus. Applicants for membership must have a varsity letter in any sport and must meet strict citizenship qualifications. Two of the Block M's primary services to the community and to the school are the toy drive and Block M Week. The toy drive is an annual benefit drive for needy families in Madera. Block M collects old toys from Madera residents and the inmates at juvenile hall repair them as Christmas gifts for poor children. Block M Week is the result of months of careful preparation by Block M members. It is carried out the week of the final home game of the football season. This year, some of the Week's events were a noon dance and a "Hire-A-Squire" Day. The activities were climaxed by the crowning of Block M Queen, Miss Karen Isakson.

REACH FOR THE TOP

On January 23, 1966, Madera High's Reach for the Top team appeared on Al Radka's high school quiz show, Reach for the Top. The team consisted of Bruce Castle, Marijane Wensrich, and Susan Peregoy, captain. The team scored a victory of 200 to 175 over San Joaquin Memorial High School of Fresno. Returning to compete again on March 27, 1966, Madera's team, consisting of Melinda Givens, Marijane Wensrich, and Susan Peregoy, captain, succumbed to a defeat by Tulare. The score was 180-180 at the half, but Tulare came through during the last few minutes of the game to score. The final score was 235-200. Miss Dominici was official advisor of the team, with Mrs. Wensrich assisting. One result of Madera's initial victory was a practice buzzer and bell system which Mr. Cozby made.

FRESHMEN SOPHOMORE RECEPTION

The Freshman-Sophomore Reception was held in the Girls' Gym on December 4, 1965. As tradition holds, a King and Queen were chosen. This year the theme was "Carnival," and chosen Clown Couple were Pam Wilkens and Regie Medellin. Music was provided by the Ebonknights.

FRESHMEN ASSEMBLY

At the annual Freshman Assembly, many of the talented freshman students displayed their interpretation of the arts. In the past, these assemblies have been fine ones and this year was no exception. There were dancers, tumblers, a violinist, and even a band.

AFTER-

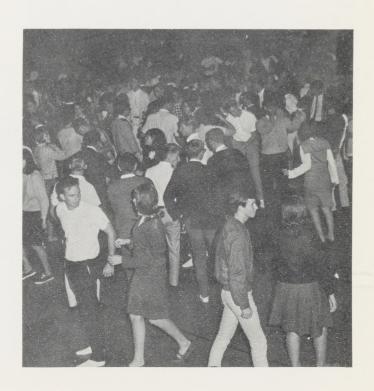

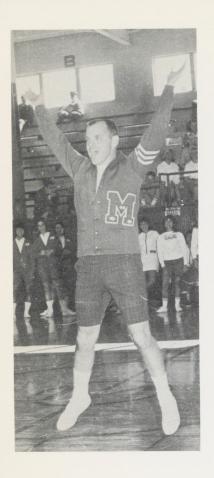

DANCES

PARADISE

The eve of February 12, 1966, was the annual Valentine's Day dance. The affair took place in the Girls' Gym, which looked like a paradise. The theme, Cupid's Paradise, was carried out in the decorations. The centerpiece was a cupid hanging from the ceiling. Hearts were linked together throughout the gym. Each table had its own centerpiece of a heart and a cupid with a carnation in the center. For refreshments, heart-shaped cookies were served. Youth Against Cancer was happy for its great success and the pleasurable time the many couples had.

CHRISTMAS

"'Twas the Night Before Christmas" was the theme of this year's Christmas Ball given by the Aurora Horizon on December 18, 1965. The many couples danced to the music of the Ebonknights. The theme was carried out with couples entering through a chimney onto the dance floor. Santa was even there—reindeer and all!

BALL

JUNIOR

PROM

On May 15, 1965, the splendid Junior-Senior Prom was held in the Girls' Gym. The theme this year was "Roman Rendezvous." The crowning of the Prom Queen was the high point of the evening. This year's Queen was Miss Sandi Carmassi, with Shirley Noble and Melinda Hamer as her attendants. The hard-working Juniors put many hours into the beautiful decorations. The Roman theme was carried out in every detail from the many pillars placed about the room to the bubbling water fountain in the center. The many couples danced from nine o'clock until twelve midnight to music provided by the Cindermen.

SENIOR PLAY "THE CURIOUS SAVAGE"

On March 17, 18, and 19, the Senior Class of 1966 presented one of the finest Senior plays ever produced in the history of Madera High. "The Curious Savage" was a comedy about a wealthy widow, Mrs. Savage, whose step-children wished her to be committed to an insane asylum, thus allowing the wealth to fall into their hands. While in the institution, Mrs. Savage learns many a lesson of life from her fellow inmates. A tender ending ensues with Mrs. Savage reluctantly leaving the institution and the dear friends she has made there. Her children having ceased attempting to obtain her money, Mrs. Savage is, indeed, a free woman as she leaves the institution. The acting was undoubtably some of the best Madera High has ever produced. The set was excellent, also.

Since the first one was published in 1914, the annual yearbook publications of Madera Union High School have grown progressively bigger and better. Much hard work has been put into this year's annual in order that we might present you with the best yearbook ever. The members of the annual staff are a chosen group of students who work on the annual on an extra curricular basis, receiving no class credits for their efforts. The publication is financed through annual sales and ad sales. Some special features of this yearbook include duotone color in the preliminary pages, spot color on the division pages, and artwork on the silkscreen cover. The artwork on the cover and division pages, designed by Henry Vizcarra, depicts the theme of the annual.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

To my Fellow Students: "To be, or not to be, that is the question." The truth of this statement is determining many people's lives, mine to a degree, too. I made up my mind to go to America for both personal and philosophical reasons, and I have certainly not regretted by decision. My stay here at Madera Union High School has contributed to my personality and experience and made my viewpoints more versatile. I am sure both you students and I have benefited from our friendships and this understanding of one another is what our world of wrath and tears needs to preserve humanity from destroying itself. I have looked in admiration at many activities on campus, and inspiring it has been to see the future citizens of America show so much capability and initiative. Now I want to extend my greetings and gratitude to the administration, faculty, and students for making my stay possible and for accepting me among you. The moment we all dislike has arrived, the moment where our ways have to part, and so my good-bye to you, my friends, with the hope to return some day.

The American Field Service Club of Madera High has been very successful in accomplishing its goals this year. Jorgen Jakobsen, exchange student from Denmark, has made his home in Madera while attending Madera Union High School. He is destined to return to Europe when this year's A.F.S. program has terminated. Madera has hopes of sending a student to some foreign country next year. Some activities Madera High's A.F.S. Club has participated in include Bermuda Day and other profit-making functions. The club has also sponsored an after-game dance. Besides making money for the local chapter of A.F.S., the organization helps to familiarize Madera High students with the American Field Service program here and abroad with the hope of securing peaceful communications throughout the entire world.

T.A.P. is an organization designed to assist the local March of Dimes. Raising funds, which will be used to help the less fortunate, is the main function of the club. This year the club had a very busy season. Among their activities were the annual king and queen contest, a dinner, candy sales, bake sale, carolling at Christmas, selling cupcakes and cookies at school, and selling peanuts. Any student in high school is eligible to join this hard-working club.

The Future Engineers of America is a club established by Teach Fuller in 1958. Its purpose is mainly to recognize those science and math students who wish to do more and see more of their fields than is possible in school alone. An "A" in a math class (in the Sophomore, Junior, or Senior year) qualifies a student for admission. This year's activities are representative of the club's active nature. Speakers and films on computers, geology, and several other fields added life to the monthly meetings. Field trips included Licke Observatory, Santa Fe Depot in Fresno, the San Luis Project near Los Banos, the IBM research and manufacturing facility in San Jose, and one of the several missile and aerospace companies such as General Dynamics in Sacramento.

Madera Campus Life is affiliated with Fresno Area Youth For Christ and Youth For Christ International, a world-wide organization. Meetings are held every other Thursday evening in homes. This has been a most active year for Campus Life. Besides regular meetings, the organization has sponsored such events as the Valley's first organized pillow fight and a hamburger feed, both with great success. On the first and third Saturday nights of each month, Madera Campus Life meets with other Y.F.C. and Campus Life clubs from other high schools of the Central San Joaquin Valley for a rally in the Fresno City College Auditorium.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

Members of Future Business Leaders of America are encouraged to develop into competent, enterprising business leaders. The club is divided into three sections: bookkeeping, shorthand, and general office. Each division is responsible for a money-making and a community project. The calendar year for 1965 included an after-game dance, a three-day State Convention at Disneyland, and a senior fare-well party at Blakely's in Fresno. Field trips were taken to the business department of Fresno City College, and to the Welfare Department and the County Hospital to observe office opportunities. Job opportu-nities were presented and discussed by a guest speaker from the Madera County Employment Office. A Nancy Taylor charm course demonstration was given by a guest speaker from 4C's College. A student wishing to join is required to be taking a business course and be planning to take one in the coming year.

Madera's first game proved to be a close and hard-fought contest. The game was riddled by Madera fumbles and Tulare penalties. Both seemed to have opening-game jitters. In the first quarter of play, neither team could score. The lone threat ended on the Tulare 20-yard line after a Madera fumble was recovered by Tulare. The second quarter Tulare came the closest to scoring. A pass interception by Linebacker Millard Henderson ended the threat on the 10-yard line. The third quarter was a battle of defenses and still no score. The first play of the fourth quarter brought a touchdown. A quarterback sneak from a yard out by Bruce Hawkins gave Madera a six-point lead. The all-important conversion by Ted Goto was the winning margin of the game. On Tulare's ensuing kickoff they ran the ball back for a touchdown. The point after failed, and Madera squeaked a 7-6 victory. Standouts for Madera were Ron Manfredi, Bruce Hawkins, Dave Williams, and Jeff Mendoza.

Madera's first league contest was a tie against highly-touted Roosevelt. On Madera's first drive, the Coyotes moved the ball to the Rough Riders' eight-yard line on runs by Delbert McAlister and Jeff Mendoza. The Roosevelt defense stiffened and Madera lost the ball on downs. On Roosevelt's first offensive play, Linebacker Millard Henderson picked off a loose pass and scampered untouched into the end zone for Madera's first score. Madera controlled the game offensively and defensively through the first half. The Coyotes almost scored again in the second quarter on a pass from Bruce Hawkins to David Williams, ending up on the Riders' three-yard line—only to be called back for a clipping penalty. In the third quarter, Madera was in control again. Late in the quarter, a pass to Don McKinney from Hawkins lighted the Coyotes' scoreboard with six more points. The fourth quarter saw Roosevelt score two lucky touchdowns in the last four minutes to give Madera a disappointing 12-12 tie. Standouts for the Coyotes were Jeff Mendoza, Bruce Hawkins, and Don McKinney.

Madera's finest game so far, and it proved the tie with the Rough Riders was no joke. In their first series of downs, Madera was stopped. The punt by Nick Lattanzio was fumbled on the three-yard line, and it was recovered by Jamie Weldon to set the fuse to Madera's romp. Hawkins scored the touchdown on a sneak from the one-yard line. The next time the Coyotes were stopped and again punted, and again they recovered the fumbled punt as this time Joe Machock was the Coyote on the scene. Hawkins then scored on a roll-out to make it 14-0 after the first quarter. In the second period, Merced scored a touchdown on a sensational pass play. This only angered the Coyotes more. Madera moved down to score twice again before the half ended, making the score 27-7. Madera, in the third quarter, again scored on a drive from the Coyotes' five-yard line to paydirt on runs by Jeff Mendoza and Greg Franklin. Madera's little Do-Do rubbed it in even more as he returned a punt back 55 yards for another touchdown. The next score came after a Jim Hirahara interception, and this brought the final score to 40-13. Standouts for the Coyotes were Dave Williams, Bruce Hawkins, Jamie Weldon, and Jeff Mendoza.

And prove it they did with a convincing 20-7 victory over the strong Edison Tigers! Madera's first offensive series proved disastrous as Edison recovered and scored on a circus catch in the end zone with defenders hanging on. This was the last time Edison was in the game. On the next series, runs by Jeff Mendoza set up a T.D. pass from Hawkins to End Dave Williams for the Coyotes' first score. Edison had to punt on the next series, but End Jamie Weldon's blocked punt ended up a touchdown for the Coyotes. The second and third periods were defensive ones as Ron Manfredi, Jamie Weldon, Byron Sciacqua, and Steve Slaven threw the Tiger quarterback for continuous losses. The final Madera score came on runs by Robert Brannon and Greg Franklin with Brannon taking the ball in from the three-yard line to end the game-Madera 20, Edison 7. Madera again outhustled and outplayed its opponent and added to its string of victories. Madera took the opening kickoff and marched to a score on passes by Hawkins to End Dave Williams. Hanford, on its first play from scrimmake, went all the way on a draw play. Madera scored once again before the half on runs by Jeff Mendoza and Greg Franklin. Just before the gun, Hawkins scored on a keeper and the half time score was 12-7. Madera, in the third quarter, scored on a Bruce Hawkins to Don McKinney pass play, making it Madera 19, Hanford 12. Madera's defense held the Hanford Bullpups to a minimum of yardage in the second half and they did not score until late in the fourth quarter. Madera's final score came on a run of 20 yards by Halfback Jeff Mendoza. The final score: Madera 24, Hanford 13. The Coyotes' biggest victory of the year saw Madera overtake and outhustle Fresno High. Fresno was the first to score. A fumble set up the first of two quick first quarter touchdowns. The second came on the ensuing kickoff on another fumble. On the next play, Fresno scored on a pass play. After another quarter of play, Madera finally got going. On passes to Ends Dave Williams and Don McKinney, Madera scored with five seconds left in the half. In the second half, Madera scored the first time, making it Fresno 13, Madera 12. The defense held and Madera, not to be denied, scored with Jeff Mendoza carrying it over. Fresno's final drive ended on the Madera ten when a pass interception by Millard Henderson ended the threat. Fresno again tried desperately to score, but a headsup play by Tackle Steve Slaven, who recovered a Warrior fumble, sewed up our victory. Standouts for the Coyotes were Steve Slaven, Ron Manfredi, Jamie Weldon, Millard Henderson, Jeff Mendoza, and Dave Williams.

Players of the Week

Madera's first loss was a costly one as we were knocked from first place in the N.Y.L. Madera's game was one of mistakes and first half sluggishness. Two quick Patriot touchdowns were unable to be surpassed as both touchdowns for Madera were unaccompanied by the extra point—a fault all year long. But Madera's spirit and fight brought them back in the second half to gain the respect of all Madera. The Coyotes outplayed Hoover in all statistics but scoring, and the Coyotes lost, 14-12. Standouts for the Coyotes were Robert Brannon, Greg Franklin, and Don McKinney.

otes were Je Kinney, and The Madera High Coyotes turned in one of their best performances of the year. While rolling up more than 400 net yards, the Coyotes' tough defense held the Cougars to a mere four yards on the ground. Clovis' two touchdowns came on freak plays—a fumble and pass interception. Madera, led by Jeff Mendoza's 185 yards in 16 carries, first scored on a short pass from Quarterback Bruce Hawkins to End Dave Williams. After one of Clovis' lucky touchdowns, the Coyotes settled down and Hawkins again was the main factor in the scoring with a short sneak and a touchdown pass to Don McKinney. With the Coyotes ahead, 26-13, little Jeff Mendoza put the icing on the cake with a spectacular 65 yard romp. Standouts for the Coyotes were Jeff Mendoza, Bruce Hawkins, Don McKinney, and Ron Manfredi.

The McLane Highlanders completely outclassed the Coyotes in probably our worst game of the season. After two first quarter touchdowns by the Highlanders, the Coyotes never did quite catch up. This was a particularly hard defeat for the Maderans, for it knocked them out of the race for the championship. The Coyotes did manage one score via a short pass play from Hawkins to End Don McKinney. The Coyotes were still in the game until late in the third period. After the Coyotes stopped McLane on the two-yard line, we fumbled in our own end zone and the Highlanders jumped on the loose ball for the score. Madera lost the ball six times by fumbles and pass interceptions, and this led mostly to our defeat. Standouts for the Coyotes were Joe Machock and Greg Franklin

The Madera Coyotes made Homecoming 1965 a memorable one by completely trouncing the Bullard Knights, 26-13. The game was not actually as close as the final score indicated, for the Coyotes, led by an almost entire Senior team, did not allow Bullard to score until the fourth quarter. The first score came only minutes after the Coyotes got their hands on the ball, with Mendoza doing most of the carrying and Brannon bringing it in from the three-yard line. In the second quarter, the Coyotes struck again with a 13-yard romp by Brannon and a 47-yard pass play from Hawkins to Williams, leaving the Coyotes with a comfortable 19-0 half-time lead. After Steve Slaven pounced on a Bullard fumble, Bruce Hawkins ended Madera's scoring for the year with a short sneak. When the Knights finally did get moving, it was against Madera's reserves and they managed to score twice in the closing minutes. This victory gave the Coyotes a tie for second place in the N.Y.L. and a very fine season.

This season Madera, in my belief, was the best team in the N.Y.L. But we were not a lucky team, and we had to fight for all of our games. The Coyotes had the spirit, the desire, and the material. The coaching was just great. Coach Warner's first varsity season brought Madera back as a football power in the Valley, and, I am sure, there will be many, many more—knowing Coach Warner. Madera had so many outstanding players it is hard to mention any particular one. I would like to wish the best of luck to Ron Manfredi, Jamie Weldon, and Dave Williams in the annual City-County All-Star Game in Fresno next summer. Also, I want to congratulate the 1965-66 Coyotes on a great season—way to go, gang!

Sports Editor Millard Henderson Head Varsity Coach

Bob Warner

Our football team this year was composed of many fine young men who had tremendous desire and courage. Rather than a group of individuals, this was a team which displayed a sense of unity and team spirit. It was further characterized by great initiative and steady improvement. By fashioning a record of seven wins, two losses, and one tie, these boys finished second in the always-tough Northern Yosemite League; and our school and community can well be proud of such a fine effort. It was indeed a privilege to be the coach of such an outstanding group of young men.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Coach Lyon

The Coyote Cagers stepped into action this season with the label of "good potential, but young and inexperienced." This certainly proved to be the case. The early season contests many times found Madera on the short end of the score; however, they added experience, and it soon began to pay off. The second time around the league, the Coyotes revenged many of the early season defeats and began to gain respect. With seven squad members returning (four of whom started), the future looks bright.

The Pups this year have yielded many wonderful surprises and are, in the true sense of the word, a team of championship caliber. The team has been a group of young men full of desire and determination, and with this characteristic, the team has proved to be one of the best in the N.Y.L. this season.

EPILOGUE

Jeanne Hatch Editor

In the production of any work there is always a number of individuals who have contributed to the success of that work by assisting silently and behind-the-scenes, so to speak. The 1966 Blue & White is no exception to this rule. First of all we wish to express our thanks to our advisor Mr. Gene Griffith and the Annual Staff. Through their time-consuming efforts and diligent hard work this production has been made possible. We extend our sincere appreciation to Mr. Ralph Howell and Mr. Dale Griffin for their excellent workmanship on the senior portraits. We are especially grateful to them for their patience and generosity in printing up extra glossies for various pages of the Annual. The colored picture of the A Cappella Choir is the work of Mr. Howell; our thanks to him once again. To our yearbook representatives from the R. Wallace Pischel, Inc.—Darrel Stanley and Barry Crow—goes our deepest gratitude. As a result of their helpful advice our year was relatively smooth. We also wish to express our appreciation to the faculty members for their patience in bearing certain inconveniences occasionally imposed upon them. Without the support of the Boosters, the Advertisers and our classmates who purchased annuals, this project could not have been financed.

May all of you share with us the highlights of our "Sea of Life."

Jeanne Hatch Susan Peregoy Having thus portrayed the many experiences encompassed within the seas of life, we bring to a close our record, and in closing our record, we mark the completion of a metamorphic phase in the lives of the inhabitants of the Sea of Life. Our story depicts one year, a mere cycle of the tide in the time medium of the Sea of Life. Furthermore, our record is finite; the rising and falling of the tide will continue forever, and life, too, will go on. In this sense our record is incomplete; but our purpose has not been to encompass the infinite nor to confine the eternal. Our purpose has been to portray but an infinitesimal segment of the infinite and the eternal: the year 1965-1966 at Madera Union High School. With this last word we, the editors, leave you, the vital inhabitants of the Sea of Life and subjects of the forces of MALISE.
